Chipman To Be Scene Of Carnival Ski Meet

Transportation and Food Problems Present Difficulties

WOMEN'S TEAMS CANCEL EVENTS

Modified plans for the 1943 Winter Carnival are nearing completion in spite of great difficulties caused by the war. Cancelling of the women's ski meet and plans to hold the entire men's meet on Chipman hill are the major changes announced late last week.

Reasons for Cancellation

Reasons given for the cancellation of the women's meet were the inability of teams to get here, the recess which some colleges will then be having, the greatly increased food expenses making it impossible for the Carnival committee to undertake feeding both men and women, and the lack of a place to hold the meet, since Chipman is to be the scene of the men's competitions.

The entire ski contest must be held at Chipman because there is no legal way to provide transportation to the Bread Loaf slopes for either contestants or spectators. There have been complete meets on Chipman hill in the past.

Visiting Teams

Men's teams which accepted the original invitations to the Carnival, before the most recent changes were made, are U. V. M., Norwich, Harvard, New Hampshire, Dartmouth, and Williams.

Syracuse has also been invited. If all the teams can come under the changed conditions there will be eight teams in the competitions. The number of members on each team has been reduced because of the acute feeding problem.

These changes in the Carnival plans relating to the actual meets have no effect on the social events which will be carried out as originally announced, according to present plans.

NEW COMMITTEE MUST SANCTION FUTURE DANCES

All future dances should be referred to a newly-instituted joint committee of the Men's and Women's Assemblies.

The dates on which all dances are to be held are to be set through this committee. Applications will be received by the chairman, who is at present Raymond H. Fox '44. The committee is to be made up of two men and two women.

The object of this committee is to avoid confusion in setting dates, and will mean that organizations which want to have dances will not have to go to the dean's office for permission. In this way, the duties of the Student Life committee concerning social functions will be taken over. Under the new system, fraternities will know what days are open for them to hold house dances, since this committee will make out the social calendar. Any college function is to have precedence over any other function, unless special permission is obtained.

The following is a schedule of social events for the near future:

January 23	Basketball, University of Vermont, here. Scullions Ball Fraternity tea dances may be held until 7:30.
January 30	Ladies in Waiting Ball Open for fraternity dances (if desired)
February 6	Basketball, R.P.I., here
February 13	Tentative gym dance
February 20	Winter Carnival weekend, Klondike Rush

Women Approve Group Charters

Jazz Group Sanctioned; Finance Committee To Consider Relief Plan

Two committee reports began the short meeting of Women's Assembly held in the chapel January 15, and presided over by Virginia I. Wynn '43, president.

Elva A. Tarbell '43, chairman of the charter committee, announced that charters were approved for the Philosophy club and for the newly organized Middlebury Student Action Assembly.

War Orphan

A letter concerning John Stebbing,, the child being supported by the Assembly under the Foster Parents Plan for War Children, Inc., has been received by Martha C. Newton '43, chairman of the war work committee, through the New York office of the organization.

His father and step-mother were killed in a bombing raid. Members of the Assembly were urged to write to him.

The president of the New England Women's Student Government Association has informed Miss Wynn that the colleges of New England are in favor of holding a conference this year. If war difficulties such as transportation can be surmounted the meeting will be arranged for early spring.

A vote of approval sanctioned the Hot Jazz and Blues discussion group which was instigated by Edward E. Adams '45. This group will meet to analize numbers seriously and to consider the type of life producting this variety of music.

At the next meeting the by-laws will be discussed.

December Meeting

The major portion of the meeting of December 13 was devoted to committee reports. Miss Newton announced the results of the drive to secure money for the support of a child for the Foster Parent Plan. There were: $70.70 taken at the bridge party December 4, $50 from Men's Assembly, $30 from the Panhellenic council, and $30 from Student Union. The committee

Carnival Play To Be Comedy

Due to an ever-increasing number of difficulties, it was decided Sunday that "Patience," the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, would not be given during the carnival weekend.

In it's place, the dramatics club will offer "Out of the Frying Pan," a comedy by Francis Swann. The play will be the secondmajor production of the year and will begiven regardless of whether or not the rest of the carnival events take place as scheduled.

This play, produced successfully in New York during the 1940-41 season, is a highly amusing comedy about a group of stage-struck young people in their quest for theatrical fame. It has all the elements of fast, witty dialogue and incongruous situations, and their effect on perfectly normal, but slightly dizzy, characters.

Tryouts will be held Thursday and Friday of this week. The cast is well-balanced, with six major parts and a number of supporting roles. Committee chairmen for the play have already been named, and include: Makeup, Marylu Graham '44; Painting, Eleanor M. Drake '45; Costumes, Nancy L. Duffie '45; Properties, Jean B. Williams '45; Publicity, Arthur J. Kelley '45. The chairmen of the construction and lighting committees have not yet been definitely decided upon.

Orth Is President Of Student Union

M. Wisotzkey, J. Ledden G. Nightingale, W. Bunce Also Elected To Office

Doris A. Orth '44 was elected as new president of Student Union last Friday night, January 15, at a meeting of the entire Women's College in Mead Memorial chapel. She will succeed Virginia I. Wynn '43, present president, after the installation of officers sometime early in April.

Jean V. Ledden '44 was elected as chief justice and will succeed Nancy L. Cowgill '43. Other officers elected at this time were Wilma R. Bunce '45, vice-president; Mary E. Wisotzkey '45, secretary; and Gertrude Nightingale '44, treasurer.

Officers' Activities

Miss Orth, former vice-president of Women's Assembly, received the Marion L Young award her freshman year, was a member of the Judicial Council her sophomore year, and has been secretary and vice-president of the WAA council. She was a CAMPUS tryout freshman year, and a member of the all-Midd baseball team.

Miss Ledden was awarded the Grace A. Hathaway Music scholarship her sophomore year, was a committee co-chairman of the Soph Hop, is the treasurer of Women's Forum social work, and has been newstaffer and an assistant editor of the CAMPUS.

House Elections

Judicial Council representatives for the second semester were elected by the various women's dormitories last week. In addition to these representatives, two dormtories elected new house presidents, as former presidents had changed dormitories.

Presidents elected were, for Forest West, Marjorie J. Jolivette '44, and for the Homestead, Dorothy J. Schroeder '44.

Judicial Council representatives are as follows:

Battell Cottage, Valeta B. Cutting '46; Chateau, Mary D. Sparks '44; Forest East, Denise B. Aubochon '43; Forest West, Marion D. Dryer '43; Hepburn, first and second floors, Marion E. Ray '43; Hepburn, third, fourth, and fifth floors, Grace Litchfield '44; Hillcrest, Janet Kemp '45; Hillside, Inez M. Berry '46; Homestead, Ruth C. Child '44; Jewett-Wilcox, Dora Hetherston '44; Pearsons, Elsie F. Noe '44.

DR. VAN DOREN WILL LECTURE FRIDAY, JAN. 22

Carl Van Doren will appear in Mead chapel at 8:00 p. m. Friday evening, January 22 as guest speaker to commemorate the birthday of the founder of the Abernethy library, Dr. Julian Willis Abernethy.

Dr. Van Doren will take as the subject for his address his most recently completed but unpublished book, "Writing a History."

Last year Mary Ellen Chase spoke upon "Writing of Fiction" and it will present a contrast to hear another contemporary author speak upon the carftsmanship involved in writing history for publication.

Dr. Van Doren began his literary career with works of criticism such as "Thomas Love Peacock," "The American Novel," "Contemporary American Novelists," "James Branch Cabell," and "Swift."

Since Dr. Van Doren received the Pulitzer prize for his "Benjamin Franklin" in 1939, he has begun more and more to concentrate upon writing historically. It is in this vein that he wrote "Secret History of the American Revolution" and also his latest book.

WAITERS' DANCE TO TAKE PLACE THIS SATURDAY

Scullions' Ball, exclusive dinner-dance to which only waiters and their dates may go, will take place this year in Hepburn hall on Saturday, January 23 from 5:30 until 11:40 p. m.

The couples will dance informally until 7:00, when dinner will be served after which programs will be used. The music will be provided by records.

The chaperones will be President and Mrs. Samuel S. Stratton, Vice President and Mrs. Stephen A. Freeman, Professor and Mrs. Frank W. Cady, Mrs. Jane T. Andrews, Miss Martha Arnold, Miss Mary N. Bowles, and Miss Mary C. Dutton.

William A. Small '43 is chairman of the ball committee which includes Harmon H. Plumb '45, Raymond E. Walch '45, and Joe M. Webber '45.

Experts Clarify Current Issues; Stimulate Students At Conference

By J. Allan Robinson '44

Middlebury has had its intellectual batteries charged. The current which was turned on last weekend by Messrs. Kent, Ezekiel, Hansen, Salinas, et al, is still pulsating through the high resistance conductor which is the Middlebury student body.

In this then—in the electric response of faculty and students alike, to the stimulating ideas and discussions of our notable guests, do we find the real success of the First Middlebury Conference.

No Definite Conclusions

No startling conclusions were reached by the panel of fourteen representatives of art, religion, philosophy, economics, and political science. No plans for a post-war world were laid down. It is even doubtful that it can be said to have offered us a very complete slate of "Cultural implications of the war." But there did arise out of every session that real stimulation which comes from an exchange of living ideas. And accompanying this stimulation as a true clarification of his ideas, which makes them usable for us.

Personality was a prerequisite for success as that experienced by the conference. And of personality there was plenty. The responsive Rockwell Kent provided fireworks at various times throughout the conference, firing questions at the vitals of Alvin Hansen's economic program, at the literal framework of Sidney Cox's discussion of the arts, and challenging us with examples of dynamic Soviet student ventures.

Mordecai Ezekiel

Mordecai Ezekiel of the War Production Board impressed all of his audiences with his lucide simplification of Hansen's forward looking program of post-war economics. The concurrence of these two government experts provided the conference with some of its most practical discussions.

Hansen's views, well-known to the economic world, called for an economy which permits full employment and full use of resources. According to Mr. Hansen, this condition of the nation's economy could be created and maintained through government spending. A large and flexible national budget would permit public investment to plug up any gaps in the economy occasioned by a lag in private investment.

Dartmouth's Bruce

Dartmouth's Professor Bruce supplemented the discussion with some enlightening views on the trends of governmental technique. The extension of the field of governmental activity, the apathy of the people, and the rise of the administrative branch of the government were the major points discussed.

Action Assembly Discusses Plans

Various War Aims Form Topic Of Meeting This Week

Plans for the coming year were discussed by the newly organized Student Action assembly which held its first meeting in Munroe hall on Tuesday, January 12.

At the next meeting definite assignments will be given out to those people who signed up for the organization. The meetings of the various committees are scheduled so that people may attend more than one group meeting. The club also plans to have working agreements with the other organizations on campus which are interested in war work. They will be cooperating with such groups as the Gold Cane, the defense stamp sellers, the people who have charge of mailing the CAMPUS to service men, and the fraternities and sororities.

War Aims Discussion

Next Sunday evening the group will hold the regular meeting of its discussion group. The purpose of this meeting will be to talk over the various War Aims of different bodies. John Kalajian '43, Peter K. Hoff '44, Robert E. Reuman '44 and Frances M. Horning '45 will be leaders in this discussion and will give introductory talks before the floor is opened for discussion. Prof. Robert W. Rafuse will act as moderator. The plan will be to demonstrate that the various aims as expressed by the Atlantic Charter, the British Empire, the Republican party, the N.A.H., and the governments in exile are all different.

ESSAY CONTEST

The Student Action Assembly last night announced its sponsorship of a Middlebury Conference essay contest. A $25 war bond will be awarded to the student writing the best paper on some phase of the Middlebury Conference.

Intended to prolong and retain the intellectual stimulation resulting from the Conference, the contest has been made open to all students who wish to participate. Papers must be submitted on or before February 8th and must be between 50 and 2000 words in length.

Further details will be posted on Monroe and Old Chapel bulletin boards later this week.

Friday's Stamp Sale Brings In Only $127.90

The sale of war stamps on the first Friday since the sales night was changed amounted to only $127.90. This raises the total sales for eleven weeks of selling to $1658.40.

Administration of war stamps sales became a function of the war activities committee of the Student Action assembly at a meeting of that group last night. Barbara Slade '44 was put in charge of all sales on the women's campus.

French Club Formal To Be Given Feb. 27

Jean V. Ledden '44 was elected chairman of the annual French Club Formal at the last meeting of the French Club, January 12.

February 27 has been selected as the date of the formal. Mabel H. Buttolph '44 is chairman of refreshments, Marjorie K. Palmer '44 is in charge of music arrangements, and Mary-Louise Koehler '44 is chairman of decorations.

The dance wil be held in the Grand Salon of the Chateau and is open to all members of the French club.

Wheaton, Monk, Jennison Broadbent New Members

CALKINS AGAIN SPORTS EDITOR

J. Allan Robinson '44 and John H. Stetson '44 were elected to the offices of editor-in-chief and business manager of this paper, respectively, by the retiring CAMPUS board at a meeting held yesterday.

New managing editor is Ruth R. Wheaton '44; new advertising manager is Ingrid H. Monk '44. Co-associate editors were elected with Peter S. Jennison '44 and Elizabeth M. Broadbent '44 filling the position. For the second year William H. Calkins '44 will be sports editor.

Sophomore members of the news staff elevated to assistant editors are Elizabeth A. Adell, Barbara A. Blair, Eleanor R. Burt, Ruth A. Merrill and Bettina I. Stringer.

William R. Johnson, Robin D. Willits, Alice S. Frederickson, and M. Jayne Robertson are the new sophomore assistant business managers.

New members of the news staff are Clement B. Lewis, Jr., Charles J. Parker, Donald B. Strong, William

Pres. Stratton Gives Report

Dr. Stratton Discloses Possibility Of Service Unit Here This Spring

The following is an official communication to the student body of Middlebury from Pres. Samuel S. Stratton:

Recent developments in Washington now indicate that the selection of colleges and universities to be used as training centers for the army and navy training programs will be announced in about thirty days. In the selection of institutions, first consideration will be given to the most effective utilization of laboratory and instructional facilities. With the exception of the larger universities, either an army or a navy unit, not both, will probably be assigned to one institution.

Army or Navy

Both the army and navy are now comparing curricula. It is believed that the navy course will require from eighteen to thirty-six months for completion, and the army course from twelve to twenty-four months. Some arrangement will undoubtedly be made for giving academic credit toward a college degree to men who successfully complete the army and navy program.

Middlebury College has presented all information requested by the committee on selection of colleges, and has expressed preferences for certain types of training units based on the facilities of the college. There seems every reason to believe that the college will be requested to make a portion of its facilities available for this broad training program.

Draft Rule Changes

Changes in selective service regulations in the past have indicated the desirability of men remaining in college until such time as they are ordered to report for duty. Recent developments confirm my opinion that a man should not hesitate to begin or to continue his college training at this time. Under present selective service rules, I believe that a man who continues his education under academic discipline and supervision is clearly responding most effectively to the needs of the nation. Mr. McNutt, chairman of the War Manpower Commission, and other government officials have explicitly urged all male college students to remain in school until actually called for active duty.

Culture Conference

Answering the question "Should a cultural conference be held in war time?" wholly in the affirmative, the Middlebury conference could not be considered other than a success. It has demonstrated that learning to fight with ideas is just as important as learning to fight with guns.

Prominent conference guests gave their valuable time to this occasion. The Conference committee had the foresight to see the practical worth for which they were working. The student body responded.

The value of such a conference cannot be grasped all at once because, as well as being designed to discuss implications, the thing itself had implications. There were implications in the fact that so many nationalities and ways of life were represented. It was both implied and stated that "psychologically and physiologically" we are "basically all equal." By this very fact; existence, although it may appear futile in its many cycles, is actually a thing that can with the cooperation of the arts and sciences be made into a large working social order which will offer to the individual and society the best way of life.

Therefore, the real purpose of the conference is lost unless its its implications are carried over into our daily living. It would take years of trial and error to get satisfactory answers to all the problems that were presented. But that there are answers and that there must be a way to establish world order has been shown. On a practical basis it serves as a renewal of faith.

It can, however, prove its real success only if in the long run it meets its real purpose—that of stirring people first to thought and then action. If the Student Action assembly lives up to its expectations then this purpose will be fulfilled at Middlebury.

Carnival And The War

The Mildlebury Winter carnival has become an annual college function which is always anticipated as one of the high spots of the year. It means fun, relaxation and a good time for everyone.

The advisability of having the event at all was considered and it was decided that, if it was at all possible, a carnival was not out of order since it would provide needed relaxation and break in a speeded up college schedule. Therefore the Carnival board is just as anxious as the rest of the student body that as much of Carnival weekend be preserved as posible.

From the first, the idea of a Carnival ball and casino had to be excluded. Now transportation difficulties and food shortages are serious problems. After very careful planning it has been necessary to forego the women's ski events and to hold the men's events on Chipman hill. With the new gas rationing and limited supply of food certainly there was no other alternative.

The people working on Carnival plans hope that this plan will be successful. However, realizing that the board is exerting every possible effort to hold a Carnival, it is up to the student body to cooperate since the Carnival is not just a Mountain club affair but one that belongs to the entire student body.

You can give your best cooperation by waiting for official word from the board before drawing conclusions and by giving full support to any decisions the board may have to make.

GUESTS DISCUSS WAR INDICATIONS

some inspiring ideas to the humanities discussion in an address which specifically outlined some consequences of this war in the world of literature. "Intellectual and artistic isolation seems forever to be doomed," he asserted.

Salinas followed this statement by explaining that the war would be followed by "an enlargement of human horizons." This would come as a natural result of the transfer of political refugees, and world-wide troop movements. He advocated an increasing attention to foreign language study "as the true way of approach to the psychologies of the countries and peoples abroad."

Salinas also stood for the freedom of the artist from the political regime, and from the commercial aspect of our modern society.

Adding a vital note to the conference, Virgil Aldrich, philosopher and professor at Columbia university, quoted from Hume saying: "Nature is always stronger than principle." He then went on to stress the fact that discussion could be intermittent. Therefore it was of great importance, after thoughtful consideration of the matter, to take some course of action. He implied that the time for action could be lost in the delay of too much debate.

A complete transcript of the Conference is being made by the Middlebury College press office. When completed, it will be submitted to the Conference Committee for recommendations as to publication or non-publication.

FOUR FRESHMAN MEN ENROLL IN COLLEGE

Four new freshman students have fulfilled the requirements for admission under the new plan which allows high school seniors to enter college after making a satisfactory showing on entrance board examinations.

The four students are: Hadden Clark '46, White Plains, N. Y., William D. Lippa '46, Brookline, Mass.; James H. Ray '46, Burlington, Vt.; Judson Williams '46, Middlebury, Vt.

Mary Maurice '44, who transferred to the University of Michigan at the end of her sophomore year, is returning to Middlebury for the second semester.

Waitresses Will Hold Ladies in Waiting Ball January 30, in Hepburn

Middlebury waitresses are cooperating with the war effort by supplanting their annual dinner-dance with a buffet supper and dance to be given on Saturday, January 30 from 5:30 until 11:40 p. m. in Forest hall recreation room.

According to Gertrude Nightingale '44, chairman of the event, the music will be records and corsages will not be worn.

Others helping to arrange for the Ladies in Waiting Ball: Jeanne Chatfield '44, who is in charge of decorations, Catherine C. Cadbury '44, in charge of programs, and Mary D. Sparks '44, in charge of music and chaperones.

IN THE SERVICE

Pvt. Robert A. Rowe '38 has been assigned as assistant to the Episcopal chaplain at the Marine base at Parris Island, S. C. Former supervisor of music in the Rutland public schools, he is now chapel organist at the base. He has received a sharp shooters medal and also a silver bar for accuracy in tossing hand grenades. Upon completion of this first period of training, he will be given the rank of sergeant.

Aviation Cadet Paul B. Ranslow '39 is training to become an Army Air Forces bombardier at Ellington Field, Texas.

Aviation Cadet Warren H. Smith, Jr. w'44 is now stationed at the Army Air Forces Flying School at Perrin Field, Texas, where he is receiving basic flying instruction. Upon successful completion of the training there he will go to advanced flying school. While at Middlebury, Cadet Smith was active in frosh football and varsity baseball.

Lucien Eugene Lyons III ex '41 was cadet colonel of the navigation class recently graduated from the AAF Navigation School in Hondo, Texas.

Paul G. Buskey '38 was recently commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Army Air Forces at Turner Field, Albany, Georgia.

Douglas H. Mendel '42 has been accepted in the Naval Intelligence at Washington and will take a year's course in Japanese at the University of Colorado at Boulder.

The following men have left Middlebury since the end of the first semester to enter some branch of the service: Charles C. Cotter '43, Ralph S. Crawshaw '43, George W. Nitchie '43, John A. REV. J. A. MOORE TO GIVE SUNDAY TALK IN CHAPEL

Rev. James A. G. Moore, assistant superintendent of the New York Congregational Christian conference, will speak at vespers Sunday, January 24.

After graduating from Trinity college (where he played tackle for four years on an undefeated football team), Dr. Moore became Congregational pastor at Cornell university. Interested in working with young people, he held this position for over twenty years before assuming his present supervision of religious conferences in New York state.

Dr. Moore has been an inspiring participator in summer conferences for high school students held at Blair and Wells college. He has met with youth of college age at the Cazenovia conference. Vassar students have requested him to speak there several times.

Sunday evening Dr. Moore will be present at the discussion group in Rev. Hasting's home, 39 South street.

plans to keep in contact with the child and make the project a continuous one.

Nominations for officers of Student Union for the coming school year were read and approved.

The finance committee was asked to consider a plan to have a common fund to take care of all relief. With such a plan in effect, each student would make a fairly large contribution at the beginning of the year and wouldn't be bothered with requests for contributions all through the year.

A special committee composed of Margaret K. Ferry '43, Ruth R. Wheaton '44, and Jean A. Bender '45 was appointed to see if any arrangements could be made so that there would be no pre-announced tests or papers due on the day after a college-sponsored lecture or concert.

WAAC's Plan For Expansion Of Enlistments

Current campaign plans of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps call for 150,000 new enrollees to meet the demands for additional categories of trained WAAC's needed to take posts with the Army.

Two new training centers have been opened extending the facilities formerly confined to Fort Des Moines, Iowa. These are located at Daytona Beach, Florida and at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia. With the opening of its new camps, the Corps hopes to reach soon its authorized strength of 150,000 women trained for duty with the Army.

An intensive campaign to obtain enrollments for the WAAC's is now under way. All members of the Women's College of Middlebury interested in further information should contact Staff Sgt. Thomas F. Cleary 38 1-2 Center street, Rutland, Vermont, who handles local applications for the WAACs.

The many new kinds of work for which WAACs are now being trained will release more and more fighting men for duty in combat jobs. For example, the Army Air Forces have asked that it be supplied with WAACs trained in a number of specialities, including aircraft electricians, instrument specialists, mechanics, propeller specialists, metal workers, parachute riggers, radio mechanics and operators, weather observers, armorers, bomb-sight repairmen, gunsight mechanics, photographers, glider instructors, and many others.

R. Warbasse, V. Wynn Lead Chapel Services

Chapel services last week presented both Mr. Richard Warbasse, in a violin recital on January 14, and Virginia I. Wynn '43, president of the Student Union, who led the services on January 12.

Mr. Warbasse, concert master of the Vermont Symphony, has taken the place of Mr. Alan Carter as instructor in music. His program included "Romance," by Wieniawski and the Andante movement from Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto in E Minor."

Miss Wynn's topic was "Faith." She expressed it as the belief in blessings not yet received as already having happened. She showed that Lincoln achieved much of his greatness through the calmness and clarity of thought he received from his faith in God.

She was the first student of the women's college to conduct services

Pucksters Defeated By Colgate And Hamilton

Maroon and White Win 10-6; 7-3 Gained By Hamilton

GALE, THOMPSON AND MOORE STAR

Hitting the ice for the firt time since the Placid tournament the hockey squad suffered a double defeat in the hands of a strong Colgate and Hamilton team. Facing the Placid winners on Friday afternoon, the Panthers bowed to a 10-6 defeat, while on Saturday night, they again fell, this time to a 7-2 trimming by the Placid runners-up, Hamilton.

The Colgate game was played on Friday afternoon at Hamilton, N. Y. Tom Dockrell, the opponents' fast left wing, drew the first blood of the game, scoring the first goal after a nice unassisted run. That, however, was the only scoring for that period, as both teams seemed unable to get past each other's guard.

Palmstrom Scores

Three minutes after the beginning of the second period, the Maroon and White's star, Greg Batt, came into his own, scoring another goal for the opponents. However, shortly after, Palmstrom, on an assist from Gale and Moore, scored the first goal for the Panthers. Batt, undaunted, retaliated with two more goals, only nine seconds apart. Captain Gale then came through, scoring the second goal for the Blue and White. The last goal of the period was scored by the opponents, Batt again scoring, but this time on an assist from his team mate Dockrell.

Starting the second period behind 5-2, the Panthers put on a scoring spurt, but in this they were matched by the Maroon and White, who matched the four goals with which the Panthers made a last bid for victory with five goals of their own. The Midd goals were scored by Gale, on an assist from Moore; two by Moore, unassisted; and one by Thompson, unassisted.

Face Hamilton

Moving over to neighboring Clinton, the Panthers then had to face the Hamilton sextette Saturday evening. Again, as in the previous game, the first blood was scored by the opponents, captain Evans making the first goal. Palmstrom retaliated with an unassisted score later in the period, but it was cancelled by Redmond's goal, five seconds before the end of the first period.

The second period was all in favor of Hamilton, the Midd men seemingly unable to get going. By the time the period was through, the opponents had scored five more goals, while the Panthers had done nothing.

Starting the final period behind 7-1, the Panthers tried to fight it out to the last. Four minutes after the period had started, Palmstrom came through again, scoring the second point for Midd.

The team showed its usual aggressiveness, but just did not seem to have the reserves that are required. Individually, however, the men did an excellent job. Notable in this are captain "Chunk" Gale, Dave Palmstrom, Kenny Moore, and Dave Thompson.

THE INTRAMURAL TROPHY RACE

By Lynn Sackett

Due to the loss of a great number of its members to the armed forces, Sigma Alpha has been forced to retire from the team competitions in intramural sports for the remainder of the year. Although not possessing a very enviable record in any of the leagues, they were fine competitors and could always be depended upon to put up a good fight, no matter what the sport. Intramurals will definitely feel the loss of their entrants.

In the round robin hockey league, there have not been enough games played yet to give much of an indicaton as to who the eventual winner will be. The Sig Ep team looks strong, and the DU's with fast skating Phil Dunham and Cliff Hendrix, looks quite formidable. The results of the games played thus far are as follows:Chi Psi took a one-sided game from the Neutrals 6 to 0. DU scored two early goals, one by Hendrix and one by Dunham, to take a 2 to 0 game from KDR. Despite the fact that he was on the losing team, Joe Webber did a commendable job in the nets for KDR, making numerous nice saves throughout the game.

ASP won a close 2 to 1 game from the Dekes. After two scoreless periods, Clay Coursey and Lloyd Marshall sunk the puck to put the game on ice for the Alpha Sigs, before Sandy Young scored for DKE.

SPE defeated Theta Chi 5 to 1 in a game that was never in doubt as to who would win.

In the basketball league there are three undefeated teams that look like possible league winners; DU, DKE, and CP. The first two have both met, and defeated a strong ASP team, while Chi Psi, although not against the strongest of competition, has shown itself to be a very high scoring team. ASP has been handicapped by the temporary loss of tall Bob Brown, who probably will be back in action for the second round.

The Dekes, after trailing from the start, came through with a rally in the closing minutes of the game to beat ASP in a thriller, 23-22.

SPE held off a determined Theta Chi rally to take a 28-25 game.

Chi Psi showed a strong offense in downing a scrappy neutral team 42-22.

DKE had little trouble beating SPE. The score was 30-13.

Lew Ensinger again led his KDR's to a win, this time over Theta Chi, 29-14.

DU, by close defensive guarding and a well balanced offense, led ASP all the way to win 22 to 15.

Chi Psi will have its first real test tonight when it meets ASP.

BILL BOARD By CALKINS

It certainly seems good to have a Middlebury varsity team with a winning streak—even if it is only three games. The basketball team has given Midd its first major sport victories of the college year. And they're winning the close ones too. Against the Fort Ethan Allen team, Midd trailed the entire way and then Johnny McGarry came through with that pivot shot and a 48 to 47 victory with three seconds to go. The fans like good, clean ball games. Both of the games on the recent New York State trip were thrillers. In both games, with just a few minutes to go the Panthers came to the fore with a couple of baskets and then held on to their slim lead.

FreddieLapham is a real basketball player—shifty, clever, a good guard, and he has a good eye. "Loopie's" set shot artistry is almost phenomenal. Let him get set, and nine times out of ten he'll drop in a field goal. Union, remembering this from last year, concentrated on not letting Freddie get set—but he managed to score thirteen points. He is also a good captain because, besides being a good ball player, he knows the rules, and has the respect of his team mates. He is the team's leading scorer.

Certainly the most improved player on the court since his arrival at Midd is Johnny Cadwell. Johnny didn't even go out for varsity during his freshman year, and last year he alternated with Bob Adsit and Will Ouimette at the guard posts. He is handicapped by the fact that he has to play with glasses on. Johnny's floor game is improving rapidly, he is fast, has a good eye, can get the ball off the back board, and is probably the best defensive player on the squad.

In the pivot spot, Johnny McGarry is a definite offensive threat. He usually scores in the double figures, and at the same time is invaluable in getting the ball off of both the offensive and defensive backboards. Johnny is an excellent ball handler too.

Earle Bishop and Bob Adsit do not have the natural talent of these three, but they make up for this by their fight. Both usually get the ball off the backboard and handle the ball well. Bish is handicapped by several injuries that he received playing football, but is an offensive threat nevertheless. Adsy brings the same scrappiness that characterized him on the gridiron to the basketball floor. He keeps the ball moving and sets up plays well.

Saturday's game with Vermont should be a good one. U.V.M., as usual, has a good team. They have won the state championship quite easily for the past few years, and, of course, have visions of repeating this year. Four years ago Nick Krauser and Johnny Mahoney led the team to a 38-37 upset win over the Catamounts—Midd hasn't won a game from Vermont since. St. Michaels upset of U. V. M. a week ago by nipping them 45 to 43 on the Winooski court, so the Vermonters will be out for blood when they hit Middlebury Saturday night. Larry Killick, Bob Dougherty, and Don Henderson pack a lot of offensive punch so there should be a good, free-scoring game in the local high school gym. Organized cheering helps. It's good to see cheer leaders at the basketball games for a change. And besides, we've something to cheer about now.

The hockey team seems destined to have a rather poor season. Colgate, Hamilton, Williams, and Northeastern have some of the best teams in the East. A win in any of these games would be an upset. St. Michaels, Union, and Vermont, usually comparative pushovers for Midd, have cancelled their hockey schedules. The team has some scoring power, but needs more experience. Holding Colgate to a ten to six score was good—Midd was outclassed by the Red Raiders. Dave Palstrom, Kenny Moore, and Chunky Gale have been scoring well.

JV Hoopsters Lose 56-36 To Green Mt. JC

by Eddie Cook

A speedy Green Mountain Junior College quintette downed a determined Panther team to a score of 56-36 last Saturday at Poultney, Vt. The game was fast and, at times, rough, with the home team having the advantage of playing on its small home court. The size of the court coupled with the new fan-shaped backboards gave coach Kelly's men plenty of trouble.

Hitchner opened the game with a beautiful one-hander from the foul line, but it was quickly offset by a twin score by Green Mountain's Ratti. The play was very close during the first quarter with Green Mountain having a 14-11 edge at the end. The second quarter, however, saw the Junior College get the range as Ratti and Crotty poured twin loopers into the nets. Despite this, "Hitch" was still "hot" for Midd as he dunked in a couple of baskets, while "Mert" Stevens aided no little, sinking two, along with a foul try. Still, at the first gun the score stood 29-21 in favor of Green Mountain.

Opponents Lead

The second half opened with the Poultney boys really putting on the pressure. Ratti, Bove, and Durkin combined efforts to help route the visitors. Coach Kelly substituted freely to try to stem the fire, but before they could quench it, the Green Mountain team had run up 17 points, while the Midd men were only able to garner 7 points.

The fourth period saw the two teams play on a more even footing with Mert Stevens and Jan Lindner standing out for Midd, with great defensive play by the former. The game ended, however, with the Green Mountain Club well out in front to the tune of 56-36.

Panther Cubs To Meet Cats This Saturday

Along with the varsity, the J.V.'s will also have a game with the Catamount cubs this Saturday. Their game is to precede the varsity one at the High School gym.

Rumors have it that coach Kelly has done a good job in ironing out the troubles that were seen in the Panther cubs' game at Poultney last Saturday. With such luminaries as Eddie Cook, Mert Stevens, and Jan Lindner, the Blue and White juniors have every expectation of taking U.V. M. for a ride. This being the "Game of Games," there will be no lack of spirit on both sides.

Little is known about the Catamount J.V.'s, but it is expected that they will not be too high a hurdle for the Panthers to take in their stride. It has been seen in the past that the U.V.M. Jay Vees never seem to be as redoubtable as their varsities.

MIDD SKIERS MAY HAVE DUAL MEET

With the cancelling of many of the carnivals at the other colleges this winter, and with the undecided state in which ours is at the preesent time, it is expected that in order to make up in a small way for this, there will be an invitation dual meet here between the Panther skiers and the University of New Hampshire boys. As yet, this plan is only in its embryonic stage, as there are still the problems of transportation and living quarters to be contended with. However, captain John Gale feels that, due to the rivalry that exists between these two teams and the fact that potentially the Blue and White is just as good if not better than its rivals, there should be a chance for his skiers to prove his theories.

Midd Basketballers To Face U.V.M. Here

Famous Rivalry Will Be Again Felt Here Saturday

"CATS", REPORTED QUITE POWERFUL

After having successfully defeated their last three opponents, Midd will act host to their "neighbors" U.V.M. when the courtmen take to the floor this Saturday night, January 23rd, in the High School gynasium.

Putting in a full week of practice since their last game against N.Y.S.T.C. the team has had a chance to straighten out a few of their faults, and work on new combinations for the coming contest. It is expected that the same men that have led the scoring for Midd so far this season will be the basis of the starting team. After last weeks performances, we hope to see some high scoring by Capt. Lapham, who did a fine job in the Union game.

Vermont Strong

The season's record for the University of Vermont up to date is about even, with four wins and three losses. The scores indicate a strong club, having defeated Norwich, Fort Ethan Allen, Williams, and Tufts. They were defeated by Hartwick, soon after we lost to tre same combination last December.

The last home game was the Ft. Ethan Allen battle, just before vacation, and will always be remembered by its dramatic finish, with Midd upping the score to a winning point just as the final gun sounded. Since then, however, the team has been playing away, allowng our support to be purely mental. Now we have a chance to see the squad in action again against our greatest rivals so let us give our support to the fullest.

Panthers Take N.Y.S.T.C. 39-36

Midd Never In Trouble, Playing Best Game This Year

Playing a much better brand of ball than it did in defeating Union 34-33 the night before, the Panther varsity quintet racked up its third consecutive win of the current campaign, defeating the New York State Teachers last Wednesday night at Albany by a 39 to 36 score.

The Teachers' court was considerably smaller than the local court, so Midd used the one defense that they had been practicing since vacation. This defense proved effective against Union, who also had a narrow court. The game was fast and a little rough, with Midd jumping into an early lead and maintaining it throughout the game except for one time mid-way in the second half when the Teacher's went ahead by one point.

"Loopie" Lapham showed that he was "hot" early in the game, dropping in the first two set shots that he took. The Blue and White hoopsters led 8 to 7 at the end of the first quarter, and stretched it to 18 to 13 at the halftime. Just before the intermission, "Bish" Bishop injured his knee and was replaced by "Big Ferd" Ensinger.

Teachers Move Up

The Albany Teachers switched to a man to man defense during the second half, and started closing up the gap. With about eight minutes gone in the third period the home team took a temporary 25 to 24 lead. "Loopie" continued to drop in set shots and Ferd Ensinger came through with several timely tap-ins to give Midd the advantage again. Johnny Cadwell, who played an outstanding game at guard, cut in several times and made nice shots—coming through with five field goals. He also did a good job of getting the ball off of our defensive backboard. With three minutes to go, the Teachers tied the score up at 34 all. Then Ensinger came through with a tap shot to give Midd a two point margin. Freddie Lapham then swished another set shot to make it 38-34. The home team came back with another field goal, and with ten seconds to go, Bob Adsit had a foul shot, which he made, clinching the victory 39-36.

Panthers Playing Well

The Teachers appeared to be a better team than Union. Midd did not penetrate the Garnet defense very well, but at Albany, with the experience of playing on a narrow court the night before, the Panthers had little trouble with a zone defense. Freddie Lapham was dropping set shots from all over the court, six of his seven baskets came this way. Johnny Cadwell's scoring punch proved very welcome—Jonny has a good eye. Earle Bishop's injury was not too serious, he will probably be ready to plan against Vermont Saturday. Ferd Ensinger made good use of his height to come through with four field goals in the second half. Bob Adsit showed his usual fight under the basket, and came through with a very opportune foul shot.

SKIING FLASHES

As most everyone knows by this time, the Williams Carnival was cancelled due to lack of those three important factors: transportation, board, and lodging. This has put the unfortunate ski team very much in the darkness as far as public recognition is concerned, what with the noble wins of the basketball squad and the equally noble trials and tribulations of the hockey team. None the less, the ski team is still around, and on some of the more secluded "schusses" about campus, a stealthy observer may at times see them practicing.

The "Blue Terror," that darling of the Ski team, is still, despite the gas rationing, giving service in transporting the more energetic of the team to Breadloaf over the week-ends. Every week-end since coming back from the vacations (except when bumming rides in the Mountain Club Trucks), with captain Gale at the helm, the "Terror" has put-putted merrily off to the Snow Bowl.

The forming of a "B" team was, not so long ago, just a vague idea. Since then, though, there has been an invitation from Skidmore College for a team to come down for their Carnival. This, unfortunately conflicted with the Dartmouth Carnival, so that the "A" Team, reluctantly, were unable to accept. For that reason, there may be a "B" ski team. Who knows.

Women's Team

Despite the fact that they may not have any all-important meets, the women's team seems to be shaping up beautifully. Led by Becky Fraser, whose idea of fun is showing up the men's ski team by running perfect flushes, and the incomparable Nunnemachers, we feel that it should enjoy a good season, if only on paper.

Carnival's History Shows Variety From Snowshoes To Glenn Miller

By Bettina L. Stringer '45

Exactly twenty-three years ago, the first Winter Holiday was observed at Middlebury College, planned and carried out by the Outing Club and the W.A.A.

It was a novel affair, for the college alone, and the CAMPUS reporter of that year described it by "the steady crunch, crunch of snow shoes announced the arrival of the Royal Attendants, clad in bright sweaters, gay tams, and many a pair of knitted socks!"

First Real Carnival

In 1923, the first real Winter Carnival was held, complete with baseball on skiis, and a varsity hockey game with St. Michael's. "The Follies", under the direction of Coach David E. Morey, became the first Carnival Play, and the week-end would have been complete but for the failure of the Outing Club to complete a ski jump on Chapel Hill.

However, the jump on Chipman Hill was installed in 1924, and the longest jump of that Carnival was 49 feet, accomplished while the Outing Club served refreshments to chilly observers.

The Sages presented a cup to the neutrals in 1925, when they were victorious, but the trophy was reclaimed by the KDR's in 1925, with the neutrals in second place, and the Chi Psi's third.

1929 Carnival

Homecoming and Carnival were combined in '29, and Vachel Lindsay was guest speaker. There were ski events Friday, but classes were held on Saturday, for the benefit of the alumni, and no one else. An informal dance was planned for Saturday night, where the cup was again presented to the KDR's. The DU's held second place.

From then until 1934, the Carnivals varied little. Snowshoe trips to Lake Dunmore and Breadloaf were featured, and the Carnval remained a strictly Middlebury affair.

In 1934, the Carnival became intercollegiate for the first time. With eight colleges represented, Dartmouth won and Middlebury took second place. For the first time, the Carnival Ball put in an appearance, with a Coronation opening the week-end, and a skating show on Monday night closing it.

Cornation and Skating

Combining the Coronation with cluding a clothing drive for the intercollegiate Carnival differed little from its predecessor. The Sunday outing to Lake Dunmore was still an important part, and Dartmouth repeated its winning performance of the year before, with Middlebury second.

At the carnival of 1937, there was held, for the first time, a Coronation Ball. The Klondike rush received its appropriate name, while New Hampshire totaled a victory, Dartmouth second, and Middlebury in third place.

Glenn Miller

Glenn Miller made the '39 Carnival a never-to-be-forgotten event. The Carnival play was presented twice, and trucks traveled to Breadloaf both Saturday and Sunday, for men's and women's contests. And, to fittingly crown the efforts of all those concerned, Middlebury won her own Carnival! Eddie Gignac ex '42 was the outstanding skiier of the day.

In 1940, Dol Brissette, replacing Tommy Reynolds, was the main feature of the Winter Carnival, while in 1941, it was Claude Thornhill, who, wonder of wonders, offered Don Roberts ex '44 a place in his orchestra.

Effect of War

Last year's Carnival, considerably curtailed because of the war, was nevertheless much looked forward to by the student body. Informal dances substituting for the Ball detracted little from the "Carnival Spirit."

And this winter, with gas and fuel shortages making it almost out of the question to follow plans of former years, the Carnival will still, in a smaller way, perhaps, but still—remain a part of Middlebury college life.

College Awaits Action Of Military Authorities

When an army or navy unit will be admitted to Middebury for training is not known definitely at present, but after a brief visit to Washington, D.C. Pres. Samuel S. Stratton feels confident that Middlebury will become a training center sometime this year.

The Army-Navy War Man-power commission is at present surveying the colleges which have applied for trainee units. Housing and curriculum requirements are not definite at present and the selection of colleges to give these 150,000 men twelve months basic training has been postponed from February to March. The tentative curriculum includes physics, chemistry, mathamatics, English composition, American history, and geography, all of which courses Middlebury could supply.

Washington officials once again advise students to stay in college until actually called as mobilization plans are still very fluid.

Discussion of a military summer science sesson to give officers intensified training is under way.

President Stratton is to speak Tuesday, January 26, in the State House before the Montpelier Vermont Historical society on "Freedom and Unity in a Post War World."

W. A. A.

Honors were bestowed upon certain outstanding athletes of the Women's College when W.A.A. president Isabel B. Grier '43 announced the names of those on the all-Midd volley ball team, those who have recently received jackets, and the winner of the tennis tournament cup, in the Student Union meeting January 15.

The following were chosen to be members of the honorary volley-ball team: Elizabeth E. Brigham '43, Virginia E. Clemens '43, Carolyn P. Ohlander '43, Louise C. Wilkin '43 and Mary L. Caswell '46.

Those earning W.A.A. jackets were Miss Ohlander, Virginia I. Wynn '43 and Leonore V. Jenkins '44.

A cup was presented to Dolly E. Green '45, winner of the fall tennis tournament. Miss Greene also won the tournament played last spring.

Women's Forum

Women's Forum will hold its first meeting of this semester on Friday, January 29 in Forest recreation room; and several projects are already underway, including a clothing drive for Thrift Shop, the purchase of a map on which to record the progress of the war, and plans for a discussion of world events with University of Vermont.

Panel Discussion

The meeting next Friday night will be a panel discussion on "Problems of the Peace." Sociological aspects of the topic will be discussed by Georgianna Hartdegan '44; Genevieve M. Jodry '43 will lead the discussion of the economic aspects; and Kathryn A. Holbrook '45 and Joyce H. Mickey '46 will speak on the political aspects. After the opening speeches, there will be discussion from the floor.

The clothing drive for the Thrift Shop is now in progress, and there has been a good response to the request for old clothes. The clothing is being collected from boxes placed in the dormitories. Last semester, the Thrift Shop made $130 which was given to the Community house.

Map Studies

The Forum has purchased a new world map and two auxiliary maps. The world map will be hung in Forest recreation room. The progress of the war will be followed on this. Hedvig C. Hogg '45 is in charge of the maps.

Tentative plans are being made for a joint meeting to discuss world events with the University of Vermont to be held at Middlebury on March 2. Louise V. Cosenza '44 and A. Patricia Noe '44 are in charge of these arrangements.

War Council Gives Report On Foster Child

By H. Anne Lindberger '44

The War Work Council of the Women's Assembly has received a reply from their foster child in England, for whose support they gave a benefit bridge Friday evening, December 4.

The report from the New York office of the Foster Parents society about "our child" is very favorable and very interesting. Here are a few sidelights about him.

Loss of Parents

His name is John Stebbing; he is thirteen years old, and was born in Plaistow,England. John has had a pretty difficult time for a child of his age. His mother died when he was six years old and his father remarried. During the severe air raids two years ago, the entire section in which John was living was completely demolished, and his parents were killed in it. John had gone to a public shelter, so was safe.

John has a pleasant personality and excellent manners. He had little clothing when he came to the children's colony, only what he had on, because all had been lost in the bombing. He is very happy at the colony and very appreciative of the opportunities given to him. Having lived in the city all his life, he is growing very fond of the country. In the letter which he wrote to the War Work Committee he mentions especially his liking for farming, and the fact that he saw an American baseball match probably played by some American soldiers who were stationed near there—he enjoyed the baseball match very much. The letter was censored, so that much of it is hard to read.

School and Relatives

At school, John has the usual elementary courses and some practical crafts such as boot repairs, carpentry, and gardening,. He is above average intelligence, very ambitious, and determined to make something of himself.

John has an older brother Thomas in the army, and an older sister, Queenie, who is working in a munitions plant. He also has an uncle who is a prisoner of war in Germany. Other than that, he has no relatives. He is anxious to work in a munitions plant, or better still, join the RAF.

GOLD CANE HOLDS ELECTION

Audrey J. Nunnemacher '44 President of Neutrals

Electing Audrey J. Nunnemacher '45 as president for this semester members of the Gold Cane, organization for neutral women, held semester elections for officers at a meeting last Monday evening.

Vice president is Phyllis Hopkins '45. The office of secretary will be executed by Miriam Kendzur '45, while Naomi Thresher '46 will be treasurer of the organization for this semester.

In view of the lessened social activities this year, the organization voted to merge two commitees, the social and the activities, to one committee. Alice Ruth Symonds '44, retiring president of the Gold Cane, was elected social chairman.

Tentative plans were made for a get-acquainted party with Gold Cane as hostess to the recently arrived quota of C. A. A. navy trainees. Dorothy J. Burton '44 is in charge of the party; Elva A. Tarbell' 43 is chairman of the committee for refreshments.

Red Cross, OCD Sponsor Course

Training As Nurse's Aide Provides Opportunity To Assist War Effort

With the threat of sabotage and of enemy action, and the massing of great numbers of workers for war industries in certain regions, it is imperative to enroll, train and organize a corps of disciplined women to assist the nurses who are left in charge of our hospitals. The Red Cross, in conjunction with the Office of Civillian Defense is sponsoring such a course to train Nurse's Aides for war-time work in health agencies. Already many cities have successfully instituted training periods which prepare ordinary civilians as substitutes for nurses on active duty at home and abroad.

Who Are They?

Resolute and dependable women who help care for the sick and stand ready in case of disaster.

Nurse's Aides must

MEN WELCOME NEW PRESIDENT

Assembly Expresses Thanks To Freeman

Expressing welcome to the new president and thanks to the retiring acting president, the Men'sAssembly sent letters to Pres. Samuel S. Stratton and to Vice Pres. Stephen A. Freeman last Sunday evening.

The epistles contained the Assembly's desire that cooperation between the new President and the Assembly would prove to be as satisfactory as the cooperation which existed between the Assembly and the ex-acting president. The Assembly thanked Vice President Freeman for his wholehearted interest in the welfare of the college and of the students.

At the same meeting of the Assembly, a conflict of the proposed Scullions' Ball and a basketball game on January 23 was permitted. Inasmuch as a mistake had been made in dates and inasmuch as programs and menus had already been printed for the traditional dance, the Assembly permitted the Scullions to procede with their plans to hold the dance in spite of the basketball game on the same night. The Assembly warned, however, that future mistakes of the sort would not be tolerated.

Speaker Edward T. Peach '43 announced that in the near future Assembly meetings would be held in Monroe at 7:00 sharp.

Pan Hellenic Council Discusses 1943 Plans For Earlier Rushing

Rushing plans for the fall of 1943 were discussed at the Panhellenic Council meeting January 13, held in Forest hall living room.

Suggestions were made that the preferential rushing system be explained more fully to the freshmen and transfers, and that the booklet on sororities be distributed at the Student Union tea, as it was this year, instead of at the Panhellenic tea later on in the fall.

Open houses will also probably take place earlier in the season and be more spread out ,according to plans of the Council.
